

Platform Edge (Off Street) Rail Blister - Hazard Yellow

Rail Blister Tactiles

Viztek Ltd has taken it's time to develop what we believe is the finest quality Hazard Yellow Rail Blister Tactile Paving System in the UK. This system is ideal for any "Recessed as well as conventional Platform Substrate Systems" and has already been used across a number of station projects to date where all concerned have commented on the superior quality of our system over any other currently available system, which makes all the time and effort developing the system worthwhile!

Richard Branson @ Viztek

The bright yellow tactile which Richard Branson is holding was born out of a discussion with Network Rail Buildings Asset Management & the South Eastern Railways facilities team.

Mr Branson was so impressed with the product that he requested Sir Tom Shebbeare (Chairman of Virgin Start Up) to link the manufacturer Viztek Ltd with Virgin Trains, and offer on-going support.

Our Challenge – how could we reduce or eliminate the ongoing costly maintenance and often unsightly look of platform yellow lining whilst maintaining a bright visual safety barrier.

Our Solution – to produce a bright yellow resin bonded anti-slip tactile which could also serve as a yellow line.

The Result – working closely with Viztek Ltd over several months resulted in the "Innovative Bright Yellow Tactile" being born.
